The announcement of Mrs. Italy's reception at St. Andrew's House on Thursday afternoon brought society out in all its frills.

Receiving with the mistress of Government House, in the wedding-dress, were Mrs. Walter Scott and Mrs. Ross, both of Regina. Mrs. Blythe chose a distinctive creation of black tulle, with draperies of white point de Venise and black Chiffon lace. A long, heavy silver chain, the single ornament worn, enhanced the richness of her toilette.

Mrs. Walter Scott was elegantly garbed in black silk tulle, the color bolio composed of wedgewood blue and white.

Mrs. Ross wore a becoming taupe-colored chamois frock, the soft fastness of long velvet chiffon.

The affair was an unusually happy one, as many old friends mingled and chatted with the guests of honor.

Shows of rose pink carnations contrasted prettily with the wedgewood tints.

In the Georgian dining-room, Mrs. Terry, Mrs. C. B. Mitchell, Mrs. Hildell, Mrs. W. D. Ferris, Mrs. J. J. Anderson, Mrs. James and Mrs. Julian, all dispensed hospitality.

Here the color scheme was violet and green. Deep violets in dainty profusion graced the table, while green-shaded candles were slight. The "water" were carried out in these spring tones.

KINGS' SONS' WARD TO PRACTICE ECONOMY.

London, March 11.—There are no boys of their distinguished position whose pocket money is so restricted as that of the King's sons. At the same time, in a reasonable way nothing is denied them if they ask, their father having permission to order for them.

The youngest prince, George and Henry, have never had more than £125 a week pocket money, a sum which is not much more than the boys' wages until they have reached the age of 16.

Princess Mary used to have an account in the savings bank, but it appears that she has now decided upon the more prudent course of saving her money in a bank.

Since then the money office has been flooded with applications from relatives of female cousins for a release and the Queen has been requested to desert from further visits to the palace.

THE HOME OFFICE.

London, March 11.—Home Secretary McKenna has been obliged to ask Mrs. Mary to restrain her philanthropic efforts in behalf of women prisoners.

The Home Secretary visited the female wing of Brixton jail and became interested in a female prisoner's sad condition for two years for stealing jewelry. Owing to extensive circumstances, the Queen obtained the girl's release and obtained a position for her in an industrial home.

Since then the money office has been flooded with applications from relatives of female cousins for a release and the Queen has been requested to desert from further visits to the palace.

A new order of the Home Office has been issued to the effect that the Queen should not be asked to visit the palace.

The other officers for the year will be: Mr. J. M. Pritch, general secretary; Mr. B. M. Pritch, treasurer; Mrs. Constance Corbett, secretary.

HUMANE SOCIETY HOLDS ITS ANNUAL MEETING

At the annual meeting of the Edmonton Humane Society held yesterday afternoon, it was very generally expressed that the work done in Edmonton by this association within the last year, compared favorably with the achievements of Toronto society. This was the opinion of Mrs. Gray and others who spent part of the time in the East, this morning.

Very satisfactory reports were submitted by the retiring secretary, Mrs. Ketchum, and the treasurer, Mrs. Blythe, to the association.

A sum of over $100 in the treasury. The school children have collected about $40 to go towards the building fund of the cat and dog hospital. The committee of this movement, of which Mrs. Ketchum is secretary, have not yet decided upon the date to begin their enterprise.

Women's Hats for Spring Have a New Story to Tell

Already the hats of last season have the appearance of being passé. Hardly a trace of the former shapes remains. The manner of wearing the hat has changed from the several past seasons. Instead of pulling snugly down on the head they stand up higher and tilt forward slightly to one side, giving them an entirely different effect to those of the past seasons.

In trimmings the change is as radical as in shapes. Flowers easily take precedence. Wreaths, garlands, sprays and bunches, and all in a wonderful profusion of colors. The art of the milliner lies this spring in the ability to blend and harmonize these brilliant colors, first with the hat itself, then with small fruits, ribbons and flowers. The hats are mainly dark, serving as a foundation against which to set off the wonderful contrast in color tones.

THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1914

The hearing of the Western freight rates case was concluded before the Railway Commission on March 20, 1912, within a few days of two years since. Making all reasonable allowance for the necessity of thoroughly considering so involved and highly important a matter, it really seems that the Commission said something.

The millers who recently visited Ottawa to protest—quite needlessly—against the removal of the duty on grain, went to the Government to start a state-owned line of steamers to Great Britain, fearing that the companies may raise the freight rates on their going to the old countries. As the seas are open, there is no reason why the millers should not put on a line of flour-carrying vessels at their own cost and risk. They think it worth while. As they charge eighty cents per barrel more for their flour in Winnipeg than in London, they might finance the cost of putting out their product on the open market of Britain out of this extra margin they are enabled to collect in the protected market of Canada. Anyway, their proposition that the Government come to the rescue is hardly of a kind to win any general or enthusiastic public approval. If the millers sold in Canada could not put down as merely a meddlesome individual who bothers himself and other people with what need be of no concern to him or them if they leave it alone. On the testimony of the Government the flour trade is spreading like the measles—and it can only spread by the infection of somebody's boy—or girl. Whatever method may be used, the father of a family has no option on the question of trying to check the epidemic.

The agitation against Home Rule carried on by Sir Edward Carson, in Ireland, has been found on the law that the Asquith Government were to force upon Ulster a change of government which would be for the benefit of the people of Ulster, and which the people of Ulster did not want and should resist even to the point of armed rebellion. That the agitation was successful in the hands of Sir Edward Carson, and that the people of Ulster, and which the people of Ulster did not want and should resist even to the point of armed rebellion. In a recent issue of the magazine "United Empire" appears an article on the "oil resources of the Empire," considered in relation to the necessity of obtaining oil as fuel for the latest type of warship. In substance, the article shows that the oil resources within the Empire are at present entirely small in comparison to those of some other countries so small that Britain must for the time depend largely upon foreign countries for this class of fuel for her fighting ships. The superiority of oil as the superior fuel of a fleet dependent upon coal could be practically out-clasped by an opposing fleet supplied with the liquid fuel. The points of superiority are briefly cited, and "gives increase in speed and in radius of action; there is great saving of time in getting up speed for attack or defense; oil may be stored, replenished, and conveyed to the furnaces with less labor and greater dispatch; bunker space is saved and the fighting efficiency of the personnel increased; the great weight may be carried and better protected; and stocks of fuel can be replenished from tank steamers." The necessity of oil is so evident "that it is not to be denied." Bearing these facts in mind, it is seen that a "strike" of oil in the great northern portion of this Province, where it is believed to exist, and where boring operations are now being carried on, would be an event not only of great commercial importance, but also of immense importance. How great would be the advantage to the Empire of a new and large field in Canada is indicated by the following table, showing the estimated output of oil in the various countries during 1912:

Country	Estimated Output (Barrels)
United States	2,100,000
Mexico	2,100,000
Canada	2,100,000
Romania	1,800,000
Germany	1,400,000
France	1,300,000

Turkey	800,000
Japan	700,000
China	600,000
India	500,000
Other countries	400,000
Total	17,419,625

The news has gone abroad that there will be a substantial boost in the salaries of employees of the Dominion Government, and that the country. Any surviving appointee of the former Government had better begin to look for a spot to fall on. It is not for him the pay is being raised.

Calgary Herald: "Nothing makes the honest election worker more disgusted with politics than to see a protest against a 'political enemy' withdrawn when 'the evidence is in hand to prove' 'guilt,' just because some man 'of his own party has been caught' with the goods and caught by the saw-off 'method.' It is this intended as an explanation of why the Herald's friends dropped the Clearwater case?"

Those who have regarded the talk of civil war in Ulster as only political blather will be surprised at Premier Asquith's declaration that the option of staying out of the Home Rule arrangement was Ulster's right of peace. The Premier either denied or minimized the seriousness of the situation, and declared the Government proposed the modification of the scope of the bill as the alternative to bloodshed. Mr. Asquith is not a man given to exaggeration, nor in judgment or in statement.

Statistics have been published by the Department of Inland Revenue showing the consumption of spirits, beer and wine in Canada during the past five years to have been as follows, per head of population:

easy to keep up an agitation against coercion when no coercion is proposed.

An extra car is to be put on Jasper between Sixteenth and Syndicate during a couple of hours in the late afternoon. It is there for the purpose of carrying "short haul" traffic is to be obtained, and the department is to be congratulated on a belated recognition of the fact. But the Canadian railway, some of which have adopted old age pensions were not parallel. He specially argued that in the case of New Zealand, where the old age pension was the necessary sequela of the compulsory minimum wage. With the fixed minimum wage only the most efficient workman could be employed. This debared those who by reason of age had become less efficient, and the state, having by its action debared them from employment, was naturally compelled to provide for them.

The Department of Finance spoke of the financial burden that such a pension system would create. A moderate estimate would be $40,000,000 a year. He did not think it was a very high opinion had taken a year with sufficient strength in support of the idea to warrant its embodiment in legislation. He moved the adjournment of the debate until the next period of the session prevents the subject from being again brought forward.

IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Ottawa, March 12.

The subject of Old Age Pensions was under consideration yesterday on a resolution by Mr. Kyte, Liberal member for Richmond, Ontario.

"In the opinion of this House an old age pension system for Canada should be inaugurated." Carroll, Liberal, of Cape Breton, Macdonald, Liberal, of Pictou, N.S., and Honorable Geo. P. Graham supported the resolution. The line of argument was that in the progress of humanization of the state it was the duty of the state to be responsible for a large proportion of industrial workers to make adequate provision for their old age in old age, it became the duty of the state to provide for them. The example of Great Britain, Germany, Austria and New Zealand were quoted.

Mr. Macdonald estimated the number of people in Canada over sixty-five years of age at 300,000. He said that the state should be entitled to pension in accordance with the principle adopted in other countries. All the speakers recognized the difficulties of the question, but urged that action be taken.

Alcuire, Conservative of Stornoway, sympathized with the idea, but argued that conditions in Canada were different from those in other countries. He argued that the state should not be responsible for a large proportion of industrial workers to make adequate provision for their old age in old age, it became the duty of the state to provide for them. The example of Great Britain, Germany, Austria and New Zealand were quoted.

REGINA, MONARCHS AND TORONTO IN HOCKEY GAMES DOMINIONS RUSH TO REGINA IN THE ALLAN CUP PLAY-OFF

Vics Led at Half Time 3 to 0—Dominions Scored Twice Immediately by Following Initiative and Then Faded—Final Score—32—Alberta Champions Were Beaten Because They Failed to Check Back—Record Crowd Witnessed the Game—Dinky Manners Barred

Special to The Bulletin
MONTREAL, March 11.—Saskatchewan and Alberta met in a hard fought game at the Royal rink here last night and the local representative, the Regina Victorias, defeated the Edmonton Dominions, champions of their province, by a score of 5-2.

The loss of the Saskatchewan representative gives them the privilege of making the trip to Winnipeg in quest of the Allan cup which they have been ordered to do on Friday.

Dominions' Coach Back and Manners Still in the Game
While not a first-class game by any means still it was spectacular in spots and the spectators were provided with plenty of excitement, especially in the second half when the Dominions were leading 3-0.

The Regina Victorias were playing a hard game but seemed to lose their nerve in the second half and kept up the fast work with apparently no trouble. McCrellish was the star of the game, scoring four goals and helping out with a number of passes.

Montrealers Swamp the Visiting Westerners by a Score of 14 to 7

By Bulletin Special Wire
MONTREAL, March 11.—The Wanderers showed a crowd of about four thousand people that they can play as good hockey as any team in the N.H.A., when they defeated the visiting Vancouver puck chasers by 14 goals to 7, at the Arena tonight, in an exhibition game. Both sides were seen to best advantage at their own style of play, the Wanderers being the first period when they were ahead 7 to 1, while when the six-man game was adopted in the middle of the second session, Vancouver still had a two-goal margin. Now Has Seven Pitchers

Deacon Signs Strike-Out Artist Named Allen—News From W.C.I. Circuit

When Manager Norkyke gets his pitching staff lined up at Everett it will have all the proportions of a big league outfit. To add to the six pitchers already on the list Deacon White yesterday accepted terms with another star artist and now the pitcher can sing "We are seven" and incidentally did like all possessed to grab one of the four regular berths.

The newest recruit is Earl Allen from a busy metropolitan called Prairie, Wash. and his past record shows a fine dramatization of Jose M. Carreras' "Sinner's Prayer".

Starting out last season with Joe McMillan's Tacoma team, of which expression Manager Lou Norkyke was then a member, young Allen won three exhibition games against Bremerton, Olympia and Everett. He got one trial in a league game, being sent in against Victor "Sinner's Prayer" Belford had been found for five runs and the score standing 4 to 6.

Allen tried for four innings and won his game. This was the last chance he had, McMillan making up his mind the younger was too light for the Northwestern league and banded him to the W.C.I. circuit.

Allen then went to Seattle where he pitched a small crowd in his first game. He stands 5 ft. 9 in. and weighs 155 lbs. He is a right hander and is slated for a try out by Manager Earl Red Sox. A baseball man who has been in the circuit since 1908, Allen is said to be a very good pitcher and will prove fast enough for the Western Canada league.
